In every election, we cast our votes on the issues that impact our communities and our lives.

New Jersey's 2025 election will decide our state's priorities for years to come. And as attacks on our most fundamental rights continue across the country, the stakes could not be higher.

When you cast your ballot this fall, we hope that racial and social justice, civil rights, and civil liberties are at the forefront of your mind. And we hope you vote like your rights depend on it, because they do.
